☞ We publish to day the Faneuil Hall Speech of Gov. Kossuth. It is a speech of remarkable power and skill and proves how thoroughly his whole heart is absorbed in the great work before him—the political redemption of his own beloved, and oppressed, and fine-ved country. This absorbs every faculty of his soul, and forms the alchemy which carries every point and incident into a favorable aspect for his cause, and which he presents in a masterly manner in touching appeals to his audiences. He has the skill to touch the springs of motive in the heart of the politician, the merchant, the manufacturer, the hero and the Christian, and by his delicate blendings and nice distinctions, to bring all these dissonances of interests into apparent concord in behalf of his positions. If one looks not to the end his utterances he seems invincible.

His speech [illegible] subject of the foreign policy of the [illegible] as vastly superior to question [illegible] policy, and this point is aside [illegible] to the mind of the mercantile c[illegible] ty. In fact the all-engrossing subject [illegible] as country has led the Governor to [illegible] vention as superior to all the eleme[illegible] American politics and one in which the [illegible] ld engaged independently of the pol[illegible] s of the country. He sees how the thing [illegible] e, and the vast importance to him [illegible] that should be done, whatever may [illegible] sequences to our country. Well, we [illegible] on much in his single-hearted love [illegible] ntry; and our people after the test [illegible] w good may be well trusted with thor[illegible] second sober thought on any quest[illegible] ral policy.

We do not think that Governor Kossuth can succeed in inducing intervention as leading element in the presidential campaign. The public mind is not yet quite "Young America" enough for that.

☞ A dozen varieties of verbenias, a single plant of each, if planted together in one bed will give an elegant display of flowers through the season. Petunias also form beautiful beds.

In the preparation of flower beds let the flowers of one class be planted in masses instead of being scattered in various places. The effect is much more brilliant and striking.

Plant the Snow Ball shrub close by the red old sort Peony. They come into blossom at the same time, and the contrast of the masses of the pure white, and the deep red flowers is very beautiful.

☞ We are informed that Mr. Hanson Fairfield of Vassalboro will shortly publish a reply to Rev. J. C. Lovejoy's Sermon of the "Maine Law." We have no acquaintance with the gentleman who proposes this work, and we have no right to question the propriety of the work he has undertaken, but we cannot but express the hope that the reply has not been written in haste, nor without that searching force which shall bring out the very marrow of the subject, and furnish the soul of the argument in favor of the Law.

☞ A letter from the 1st Assistant Postmaster General, states that "a newspaper may be marked with a pen or pencil without subjecting the sheet to letter postage, if it is done for the sole purpose of readily attracting the attention of the person to whom the paper may be sent. If the mark should be so made as to convey any other information, the paper would then be charged with letter rate."

☞ It is stated in the Williamsport (Penn.) Gazette, that between three and six millions of dollars' worth of lumber are now yearly manufactured in Northern Pennsylvania. This trade is nearly monopolized by Philadelphia.

☞ The city council of Portland has passed orders to the Police of that city requiring them to enforce the Liquor law.

☞ We give our thanks to Hon. I. Washburn, Jr. and Hon. E. K. Smart, for public documents.

☞ Straw plaits may be whitened by immersion in a weak solution of chloride of lime, and afterwards washed in clean water.

☞ Gleason's Pictorial for this week is on sale at the Bookstores in a fine dress, and happily adapted to the season.

SOUTH CAROLINA IN COURT. Manuel Rogeis, a colored Portuguese sailor, arrested on a charge of conveying an English brig, which was recently driven into Charleston by stress of weather, having been arrested and committed to jail, Mr. Matthew, the British Consul at that port, has applied to Judge Withers, through his counsel, Pettigru, for a writ of habeas corpus. The Judge has refused to grant the writ, and notice of appeal has been given. The issue therefore has been legally raised upon the validity of South Carolina, requiring the imprisonment of colored seamen who may arrive in the ports of that State, and there is every probability that it will ultimately be carried up to the Supreme Court of the United States for adjudication. The accomplishment of this point will be remembered as the object of the mission to Charleston of Hon. Mr. Hoar of Massachusetts, who was forcibly but forcibly reminded that Carolina could not contain him twenty-four hours.

There was a man of wit who said he would make a noise in the world, that he left orders at his death to have his skin tanned, and made into a drum.

Address of Kossuth in Boston.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—Do me the favor to believe that I am not with any pretensions to eloquence, within the cradle of American liberty. If I were speaking upon the trains of Parliament, and had to speak before Demosthenes spoke, my tongue would refuse to obey my words would die down upon my lips, and I would listen to the winds, fraught with the dreadful realization of his unheeded predictions.

[illegible] Spirit of American eloquency, [illegible] ment my boldness, that I dare address Shakspeare's language in Faneuil Hall. It's a strange fate, and not my choice.

My tongue is [illegible] strange will, unknown to the nation's sorrows. The [illegible] of my cause is very eloquence; but misfortune may approach the altar where the flame of [illegible] your fathers from Great Britain's independence. I claim my people's rights in the benefit of the laws of nature and of nature's God. I will, I think, add to the historical significance of these walls, but I dare hope it is really from my appealing to those maxims of political truth, the proclamation of which in Faneuil Hall [illegible] roused by the boldness and selfdevotion of inspired courage.

"Cradle of American Liberty" [illegible] is a great name, but there is something in it that saddens my heart. The shadow [illegible] says, "America is a liberty." You should say, "Liberty is America." Liberty should not be either America's or Europe's—it should be free to all. [illegible] Liberty is [illegible] American Liberty has much the same as if you should say, "American [illegible] Angelitude is the truth. Look to Heaven [illegible] your heart considers of the fact that Liberty covers [illegible] ing in any corner of the world, and [illegible] you will find the [illegible] it in the country where that all who [illegible] free [illegible] Liberty [illegible] their privilege, instead [illegible] it as a [illegible] duplo.

The nature of [illegible] privilege is exclusiveness—first of a people [illegible] Liberty is principle [illegible] community [illegible] —quite universal [illegible].

What is aristocracy? It is [illegible] privilege; it is privilege [illegible] aristocracy. Because it is contrary to the feeling of men. Attorney should yield [illegible] not only to the nations, but from conviction [illegible]. Being a fact as it must [illegible] Liberty will manifest [illegible] earth. It is equally natural [illegible] nations to believe that [illegible] toward the road of vicissitudes. To this [illegible] [illegible] isolation resulting [illegible] [illegible] have fallen [illegible] to oppression by [illegible] sides. You have [illegible] [illegible] freedom of 76 years; [illegible] what is 76? Are to take for a charter of [illegible] [illegible] No, no! my humble tongue tells [illegible] [illegible] of eternal truth. A privilege never can [illegible] Liberty [illegible] stricted to one nation [illegible] [illegible] day say, "We are [illegible] [illegible] Let you stay [illegible] with us, and [illegible] God!" The Jews have said so, and their [illegible] Jerusalem. [illegible] in this hint. Solomon [illegible] [illegible] Liberty to say, "One [illegible] in Heaven" [illegible] Jerusalem is lasting [illegible] end of days.

There is a [illegible] duty — that was the precious [illegible] which I read on the arch of welcome on the Capitol [illegible] of Massachusetts. Liberty to God, and to the Republic of America would weigh the [illegible] truth of these words and act accordingly. If [illegible] in America would then be heard to [illegible] of time, but if you say, "American Liberty," the case is grammatical for your pride. I dare say the time will yet come, when humanity will have to mourn about a new proof of the ancient truth, that without opportunity [illegible] rational freedom is never sure. You should [illegible] Liberty into Liberties, [illegible] [illegible] forever gone in America, and that which found a cradle in Faneuil Hall, never would find a coffin, through all coming days. I take no [illegible] word cradle connected [illegible] with the word liberty; it has a scent of mortality. But those are vain words I know, enough as [illegible] life of nations, the spirits of the future [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] events visible to every [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] with freedom [illegible] are [illegible] [illegible] with terror—claiming the title of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] are never believed. However, [illegible] [illegible] of America. Liberty is not [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] reputation of having [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] most powerful [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] speculate for having [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] by political [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] mystery of its rare [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the people of New England, [illegible] especially the people of Massachusetts.

In what I have seen of New England, there are two things the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the observer's mystery [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] intelligence. I have seen [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] following the noble [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] almost the third population [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of every town, of every village where I passed, gathered around me, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] consolation in my thoughts was [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] seen the book of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] with a keen [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] solemn life well, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] bearing marks of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] which in old Europe, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] every step. I have seen [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] seem not a nation [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of desolated poverty. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] comfortable condition, the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] spreads over the land. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the people work [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] reason thought just to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] hard-earned [illegible] through the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] but they work with the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of substantial happiness. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] which I could not [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] intelligence impressed [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] South and appearance of the people [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and my companions have [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] factories, in the workshops, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] in the streets, and could not [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] turns to think how [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] little to such a people [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Hall had to speak, and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of success. They were not [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] spirit of their audience, but [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] quent interpreters of the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] instinct.

No man can forfeit the [illegible] of his own individuality [illegible] the people's [illegible] [illegible] may play upon the chords of his people's heart, who draws his inspiration from the people's intellect. Well! I thank God for [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the public spirit of the peop[illegible] of Massachusetts [illegible] showing its attention to the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] pronouncing its verdict. After the [illegible] [illegible] manifestations of public [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Massachusetts [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] doubt about it, that his Excellency, the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Governor of Massachusetts, [illegible] [illegible] wrote his memorable address to the Legislature [illegible] the Joint Committee of the Legislature [illegible] [illegible] careful and candid [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of the subject, not only concerning [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of the executive government, but elucidating them by [illegible] their [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and elevated statesmanship of which will never [illegible] [illegible] dear to the name of Hazzard's [illegible] [illegible] nations, and the Senate of Massachusetts, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] rejecting the resolutions proposed by the [illegible] Legislative Committee in respect to the question of [illegible] [illegible] intervention. I say the spontaneous manifestations of public opinion have [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] doubt that all those executive and legislative proceedings not only [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the people of Massachusetts, but were in fact nothing else but the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of the public opinion of the people of Massachusetts. A spontaneous outburst of popular sentiment is [illegible] more in a single word than all the skill of elaborate eloquence could [illegible] have at that time.

[illegible] Separation of the man [illegible] the principle," about [illegible] but a man in Worcester [illegible] the thundering shock of a sensitive multitude. It was a word like those [illegible] of Sinai, spoken in Faneuil Hall; out of which Liberty in America was born. That word is a revelation that the spirit of eternal truth and of profound [illegible] moves through the people's heart—that word is teeming with the destinies of America.

I will not find that in the leading quarters, a small party [illegible] [illegible] should never prevent the due appreciation of the people's instinctive sagacity. As with [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] heartfelt gratitude, I own that of that fear I am [illegible] relieved in respect to Massachusetts. [illegible] [illegible] more I have met the revelation of the truth that the people of Massachusetts worship principles. I have met it on the front of your Capitol, in these words, traced to the consolation of the oppressed world; by the constitutional authorities of Massachusetts to the High Heaven, [illegible] an act of triumph—Remember, all who [illegible] is a community to maintain a sentiment.

I cannot express the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] sustaining on the [illegible] of your [illegible] [illegible] words above my head, by the people of Massachusetts [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] reached me as the hand in the person of its Chief Magistrate. The emotion which [illegible] [illegible] my heart was [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] have for when the Sword [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and when I looked [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] grateful [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of Massachusetts [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] with the sword in one hand, and the [illegible] of liberty in the other.

You have granted the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] have been [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
